

For a summary of information regarding your IME, please read the below instructions carefully.

For more detailed visa information please visit: <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/home>

BEFORE booking your Panel Physician appointment:

Obtain a HAP number

- From your visa/travel agent, or
- Register for an "ImmiAccount" on <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/home> and follow the instructions.

Once you have your HAP number, you will receive a document stating what you are required to complete, for example:

- 501 =Medical Examination
- 502 =Chest X-Ray
- 507 =HIV Test
- There may be other tests on the list depending on the visa type (checkImmiAccount)

ShipMed
Medical Services

Australia Immigration Medical Examination (IME)

At your Panel Physician appointment:

- All applicants bring the following to your appointment at ShipMed:
- ORIGINAL Passport of each applicant. (No copies of any kind are accepted).
- HAP number of each applicant.
- No photos are required.
- All required paperwork will be provided at ShipMed.

If blood tests are required (check ImmiAccount) they will be done at ShipMed.

X-ray (502) requirements

- Check your ImmiAccount for if you need a 502 exam (chest x-ray)
- The X-ray must be done at Lake, Smit and Partners (Panel Radiologists) at Entabeni Hospital (Ground Floor) after your medical exam (501) is complete.
- ORIGINAL passports for each applicant must be shown.

Payment Options

- Credit Card
- EFT (Proof of Payment must be provided at the appointment)
- Cash

Note: We do not deal with medical aid under any circumstances.

Costing.

www.shipmed.co.za

031 261 8291

ShipMed
Medical Services

Australia Immigration Medical Examination (IME)

As each visa requires various and different investigations, the pricing varies:
(Please check ImmiAccount for what you need)

- 501 (Medical Examination) R1800
- 502 (Chest X-ray) +/- R1700
- 707 (Blood test -HIV) R250
- Tuberculin Skin Test R300
- Hepatitis B Blood Test R250
- Hepatitis C Blood Test R250

(Pricing as per 2024)

Duration of Medical

On the day you will be required to:

- Fill in multiple forms (only available at the Panel Clinic)
- Have a photo taken
- Be checked by a nurse
- Be examined by the Panel Physician

It will take approximately 30 – 45 minutes per applicant (e.g. Family of four will take approximately three hours)

www.shipmed.co.za

031 261 8291

ShipMed
Medical Services

Australia Immigration Medical Examination (IME)

Preparation for the Medical

No fasting or special dieting is required.

Clothing – shorts and a T-shirt are preferable.

- You will be required to remove clothing that cannot be easily manipulated to reveal most of your body (a gown is provided in this instance).

Specialist Reports – your Panel Physician will advise you at the appointment if any further specialist reports are required.

Menstruation – as there is a mandatory urine test for all applicants, we suggest that you wait until seven days after your period ends to have your appointment.

What will be examined?

- All the major systems will be examined.
- Genitalia will not be examined
- A breast exam will be performed if there is a history of breast cancer either in the applicant or the applicant's direct female relatives.

AFTER your Panel Physician Appointment

Once the medical is complete you will go for your chest x-ray (if required)

Processing times:

- If there are no apparent problems with your medical (501), chest x-ray (502) or bloods (if required) then your medical will take up to TEN working days to be submitted, via eMedical, to the Australian Government.
- If further information is required due to findings made during the exam, then you will be informed by your panel clinic of what will be required next and of the expected timeframe for submission.

Please do not contact ShipMed with queries regarding submission if it is within 10 working days.

Note: the nature of the IME medical is to assess your health in order to be assessed for a Visa by the Australian Government. It is not a "fit to fly" medical. If an applicant is concerned about their fitness to fly then we strongly advise that you see your personal doctor for a "fit to fly" assessment.

